as to the Disappearance of A. T. Cox.

Nothing additional has been learned as to the disappearance of Mr. A. T. Cox since yesterday's issue. Parties were engaged all during the day dragging and seining in the river below the wharf in hopes of finding his body. The belief has grown that he committed snicide. It may be, however, that he boarded some of the packets which passed here at that hour of the night, but this is hardly probable in view of the fact that his hat was found on the shore. Some few advance the theory that he way have met with foul play while on the streets at that hour of the night, but the klea is given but little credit.

Torture is Russian Prisons.

A Nihilist imprisoned in the Toubletskoi Bastion has managed to communicate with the outside world. He says the cate with the outside world. He says the prisoners are almost starwed on mouldy food. Disagreeable diseases prevail. The use of combs and soap is forbidden. Jailors are cruel. Vermin are abundant. Rats often eat dying prisoners. This is almost as bad, as dyspepsia. But the torments of dyspepsia need not always be endured, for Brown's Iron Bitters will conquer the disease. Mrs. Williams, of Starkville, Miss., was tormented with dyspepsia, and her daughter with debilty. Brown's Iron Bitters relieved both.
